New emergency support line launched for vulnerable people needing urgent help

Today (Monday 30 March) Cumbria County Council and partners have launched a new emergency support service for people at high risk of becoming seriously ill, as a result of COVID-19, and who do not have support available from friends, family or neighbours.

Those at high risk include people over 70 years old, pregnant women and those with underlying health conditions who should be protecting themselves by staying at home. The majority of these people will already be receiving support from family, friends or local voluntary groups with tasks like shopping or collection of medicines if they require it. But we know that a small number of people will not have this support. If they have no alternative, these people will now be able to call the Freephone number to request help with getting food, medicines, essential supplies and home deliveries.

Cumbria County Council has been working closely with District Council, CVS, Cumbria Community Foundation, community and voluntary sector, private sector and military to establish these new arrangements. To support the new helpline every district is coordinating a supply of essential food, medicines and supplies which can only be accessed via the emergency helpline or email. The requests received asking for help will then be matched with local support and supplies being offered by community groups, volunteers, councils and businesses.

- The Emergency telephone support line is 0800 783 1966
- Or you can email your request for help to COVID19support@cumbria.gov.uk
- Further details about this support service can be found online at cumbria.gov.uk
- The telephone 'call' centre will operate Monday to Friday 9.00am to 5pm and 10am to 2pm at weekends. The service will also accept referrals from members of the public who may be concerned about people in their community.

Cumbria is already seeing widespread community and voluntary sector support for the response to COVID-19 and informal support, including neighbourhood WhatsApp groups and community Facebook groups, alongside a commitment from existing community emergency planning groups, local churches and faith groups and formal voluntary sector organisations who are working with councils and NHS.

The helpline will also accept referrals from members of the public who may be concerned about people in their community.

Key workers without childcare urged to complete online form

In response to the closure of schools to most pupils across Cumbria last week, a total of 50 hubs across the county are offering childcare support to key workers from today. Most parents and carers should have already been contacted by their child's school or early years setting to notify them which hub their child can attend.

Key workers who still require childcare must make a request for this support on Cumbria County Council's website by completing the following form online:

<https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/LRVDHXS>

The council is asking all parents and carers to check government guidelines on who is an essential key worker before submitting an application:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/coronavirus-covid-19-maintaining-educational-provision/guidance-for-schools-colleges-and-local-authorities-on-maintaining-educational-provision>

We would also like to remind parents and carers who are key workers that, if it is at all possible for children to be at home, then they should be and not to ask people who are in the strict social distancing category to care for your children (this includes people over 70 and those with underlying health conditions).

When accessing childcare hubs parents and carers should be mindful of the following guidelines:

- Please do not to enter if you or family members living with you are displaying any symptoms of coronavirus (COVID-19)
- Please do not form any gatherings within the grounds or at the gates
- Please observe social distancing children arrive at the education or childcare setting and reduce any unnecessary travel on coaches, buses or public transport
- Please use the hand sanitizer before entering or on exit
- Please wash your child's clothing

Key workers can find further information about childcare on our website at:

<https://cumbria.gov.uk/coronavirus/serviceupdates.asp>
